

McGrath Systems' Brian McClintock awarded 2011 CFO of the Year

Blue Bell, Pennsylvania – Brian McClintock, Chief Financial Officer for McGrath Systems was honored yesterday by the Philadelphia Business Journal as the 2011 CFO of the Year for small business. CEO Michael Wiley states, “This award clearly represents Brian’s talent, commitment and overall executive leadership he brings to the organization everyday”.

As CFO, McClintock has focused heavily on upgrading the operational infrastructure of the business by implementing new programs, updating software and transitioning the onboarding system to the Web. Within his first 30 days of employment, McClintock reduced project spending by $150,000 a month. In addition to other key accomplishments, he reversed a negative sales trend from a 7 percent decline to a 10 percent increase by improving sales performance analysis and variance analysis, which led to better decision making, and reduced operating expenses by 15 percent.

McGrath Systems has been providing Human Capital Management Solutions in the Mid-Atlantic region for almost 7 years. McGrath has built a strong reputation of success focusing on providing valuable solutions to their customer’s human capital challenges. Last year was the most prestigious year in the company’s history. Despite the economic downturn that affected nearly every industry, McGrath Systems achieved unparalleled growth; successfully hiring nearly 800 employees for customers throughout the US.

McGrath Systems has been recognized in the business community and bestowed several esteemed awards over the past few years. McGrath Systems, for several years in a row, has been recognized by Philadelphia 100 as one of the fastest growing privately held companies in the region.

In addition, McGrath Systems was awarded the 2010 Emerging Business of the Year by the Greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce (GPCC). This award honors the Region’s Small Businesses and is the most distinguished award presented to small businesses in the Greater Philadelphia area.

CFO Brian McClintock stated, “This award is a testament to each and every employee’s commitment to the McGrath Systems vision, mission and values. Our organization is built upon accountability, teamwork and communication. This award is a direct result of that collaboration.”
